for Australian Privacy Principles & Credit Reporting

Our commitment

We value your trust in us as a customer-owned banking entity. It is important for us to keep your information secure. As a customer-owned banking entity, it is also important for us to keep your information confidential. To achieve this we will comply with the Privacy Act 1988, the Australian Privacy Principles (APPs) and the Privacy (Credit Reporting) Code 2014.

The Privacy Act sets out how we are to collect, use, disclose and store personal, credit and credit eligibility information. The Privacy Act also requires us to have a privacy policy.

We may also, with your consent and authority, deal with your personal information under the Consumer Data Right (CDR) regime. For more information about how we collect, use, hold and disclose CDR Data under the CDR regime, see our CDR Policy.

How we collect your information

We will collect information about you and your financial position from you directly.

When you apply for a loan, we will collect information about your credit history from a credit reporting body.

What information do we use from your credit report?

We use your credit report to check if what you have told us about your financial history is correct.

We look at the following information:

- what are your current loans
- what loans have you applied for
- if available, your repayment history on any loans and your default history
- any payment defaults reported by service providers such as telcos and energy companies
- whether there are any Court judgments against you
- whether you are, or have recently been, a bankrupt
- whether you have committed any serious credit infringements.

Your credit report will usually only contain information from the past 5 years. It may contain information from up to the past 7 years if you have committed a serious credit infringement.

We may ask you to explain why your credit report differs from what you have told us about your financial history.

Why we collect, hold, use and disclose personal information

We collect, hold and use your information for a number of reasons, such as to:

- provide customer benefits, financial services and products or information about those benefits, services and products
- give you information about financial services and products from third parties we have agreements with
- conduct market and demographic research in relation to the products and services our customers acquired from us.

We also collect, hold and use personal information as required by law, for example:

- for our register of members
- to verify your identity
- to assess your capacity to pay a loan.

We collect, hold and use your information:
